Teaching tools of all types including a database of available grants, funding, discounted teaching supplies, free lesson plans, reference manuals, and dictionaries--plus, links to the latest educational news, web sites, and information pertaining to educational software. There is a searchable database of lesson plans and classroom activities organized by grade level--from elementary to high school. There is also a separate library of supplementary materials and interventions aligned with state standards, including resources for teaching English as a second language and other traditionally hard-to-reach students.

IntelliTools Inc., a longtime maker of assistive technology solutions for schools, has launched an upgraded version of its IntelliShare Classroom Activity Exchange. Its features include free membership; activity sharing, a new upload feature that makes any activity instantly available for downloading; user messaging, through which members can contact other users to share ideas, impressions, and techniques; and a rating feature that enables stakeholders to post comments and share their insights on featured activities with other educators.
