

September 9, 2002

Web Sites for Educators

<http://website.education.wisc.edu/rla/index.htm>

The Internet includes a multitude of resources educators can use to enrich the curriculum and enhance student learning. However, most of us don't have enough time to spend hours searching for high quality sites. The purpose of this site is to serve as an access point for resources educators themselves have found valuable.

eduScapes: a site for life-long learners

Welcome teachers, parents, students, and life-long learners of all ages!

<http://www.eduscapes.com/>